Basics Interior Architecture 01: Form and Structure: the Organisation of Interior Space By Graeme Brooker, Sally Stone

Basics Interior Architecture 01: Form and Structure examines the basic ideas that underpin the design and remodelling of interior space.

It covers the process from the establishment of a relationship between the existing building and the new components that inhabit it, to the design and positioning of significant elements within the space.

The book proposes a method of analysis, understanding and exploitation of the existing building that can be used to realise the design of a new insertion.

Studies of contemporary work, alongside activities and resources are displayed in an engaging and stimulating way that appeals to students as well as practitioners.
